

How to join Livermore Flying Electrons

Livermore Flying Electrons (LFE) offers an opportunity to participate in Radio Control airplanes, helicopters, and more. We are a chartered club with the Academy of Model Aeronautics (AMA). The AMA is a national organization that supports and advocates for model aviation. Membership in AMA includes a monthly magazine, as well as liability insurance.

You must be an AMA "Adult" or "Youth" member before applying to join LFE. Park Pilot membership is not acceptable to join LFE. You can join AMA online at:

Annual membership with LFE expires on December 31 of each calendar year. New Member fees for adults are pro-rated for the first year, as shown on the application form. This amount includes a one-time initiation fee of $150. The annual renewal rate for adults is $125.

Youth membership, under age 19, is $30. Youth members are not charged an initiation fee. Annual dues are $30 until reaching the age of 19.

Please review the LFE Member Handbook before applying for membership.

Training is available for "Student" pilots and is free of charge. Contact our Chief Flight Instructor. He can coordinate a training schedule and advise you on appropriate RC equipment. New pilots will learn how to safely operate and fly RC aircraft. Your instructor will give an "OK to solo" endorsement after completion of your training.
